IMMIGRATION

From the Western States Will Increase and is Looked Upon Favorably There.

(Bulletin Special Dispatch). Ottawa, Dec. 23.—J. A. Smart, deputy minister of the Interior, returned today from visiting the Canadian emigration agencies in the United States. He went as far south as St. Louis, Kansas City, and Omaha. He says that the people in the Western States are well posted on Canadian affairs, and immigration of Americans to the Northwest is not looked upon unfavorably. He authorized a new system of advertising by special train fitted up for that purpose.

LOCAL

A merry Christmas to all.
—Only Bulletin tomorrow Christmas Day.

The days are getting longer, but you don't notice it.

A slight fall of snow last evening has greatly improved the sleighing.

The regular Friday issue of the semi-weekly Bulletin will be issued today.

P. Wagner & Company, merchant tailors, have one of the handsomest calendars of the season.

J. B. Lubbock, Everyman, is distributing a very nicely lithographed advertising card.

Christmas carols by children of the Sunday school in the Freebyterian church tomorrow evening.

Laurelton Bros., wholesale liquor dealers, are distributing an attractive calendar for the new year.

A little snow yesterday made good sleighing for light loads, but today's warm weather is wearing it away quickly.

A church service will be held at the First Church at 8.30 tomorrow morning, and Christmas services at eleven o'clock.

The Harold Nelson Company arrives tonight. Malines tomorrow. The Triumph of the Shrew, and Quo Vadis at night.

LIBERAL MEETING

The meeting of Liberals and supporters of Frank Oliver, M.P., held in Robertson hall on Tuesday evening as a conclusion to the work of the nominating convention of the afternoon, was largely attended, although there were a number of other attractions on the same evening. The large hall was well filled with representative Liberals from all parts of the constituency. The meeting was called to order by C. W. Gross, president of the Young Liberal Association, who acted as chairman. He was pleased to see such a large and representative gathering of Liberals. The Conservatives had been very solicitous regarding Mr. Oliver. If the Conservatives had their way, he would be in the Senate, but he is wanted in the House of Commons to fight for the people of the Edmonton constituency. The Liberals have much to raise their enthusiasm, a grand policy, a splendid leader and an able representative. All that was now necessary was thorough organization. The question before the electorate is: "Do we want a low tariff or a high tariff? Do we want the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, or do we wish Borden's zig-zag, disconnected railway, or none at all?" John Howe stated that the Liberals of Northern Alberta did not depend on money to carry an election. They depended on the principles they had, and when won by fair means or not at all, he recommended thorough organization so that a large vote would be polled, and a large gathering of Liberals. There was a time in the history of the Northwest when it was not as fashionable to be a Liberal. This has changed, and the Edmontonians occupy a very prominent position in the eyes of the Dominion at the present time. The Liberal government which has given so much protection to the people, to declare by our votes at the coming elections, whether we approve of that policy or not. The Liberal government has raised the great possibilities of this country and has launched projects for the development of it. The expense of carrying out these projects will be borne by the Dominion at large. These projects have not yet been kept before the attention of the House for a number of years by our present representatives, and now Edmonton and district were running the benefits of that attention.

Mr. McMillan stated his surprise that political parties had divided on the question of the building of the Grand Trunk Pacific railway. He thought it one of the best railway projects ever put through the House. He believed in a system of protection for the people, and not on the expense of all others. It is not in the farmers' interests to have a high protective tariff, the policy which the Conservatives are advocating. Thirty-five years high protection in the United States had ruined the country with trusts and monopolies. Thirty-five years ago the manufacturers had begun protection, now, the decreta II. A high protective tariff tends to divert money into the hands of the few. The policy of the Conservative party is not in the best interests of Western Canada.

C. D. W. McDonald referred to the tariff and transportation questions. The Grand Trunk Pacific had been badly needed and it assured the ample development of the great Saskatchewan valley. A high tariff, which the Conservatives advocated, and a high protective tariff for Western Canada. We must show our appreciation of the efforts of the Liberal government in behalf of Western Canada, by returning the Liberal candidate at the coming election.

Forin was proud to be able to say a word on behalf of the government, that had been in power for a number of years. From the standpoint of progress, Canada stood first among the nations of the world. The manufacturers thought that J. L. Tarte in the Liberal party to voice their interests in favor of high protection. Tarte had been ousted from the cabinet. The Liberals are as strong as ever, and the manufacturers have not yet found the man in the Liberal party. When Tarte left the Conservative party he put several of his men in prison. When he left the Liberal party he could not make a single charge of misconduct. The Liberals believe in the principle of protection. The United States under a very high tariff is undergoing a depression, and the manufacturers ask us to take some of the same medicine that caused this depression. Regarding increased expenditure in 1903, for every $100 received, $78 is spent. The customs department is now spending $200,000 more, but are receiving a surplus of $200,000. There is now a deficit of $200,000. There is now a surplus of $200,000. This is now the way Canada has governed under the Liberal Government. The Grand Trunk Pacific and Canadian Northern railroads, had freed us from Canadian Pacific Railways management.

Frank Oliver, M.P., was the next speaker. He was proud of the honor of addressing such a large and enthusiastic meeting. The progress of state in the mining industry was mentioned. A critical point had been arrived at in our history. As on former occasions, he stood as an independent Liberal. As a statesman at times he had urged the measures proposed by the Liberal government, and would do so again should the interests of the constituency demand it. For this he claimed to be not alone, but, the Liberal, Liberalism stands for progress and for freedom. In the early days during the fight for responsible government, the Liberals had taken an active part. When the tide of abuses had been remedied the Liberals sought to build up a standard and the tremendous projects now before us are the outcome of this Liberal policy. We have immense fertile stretches of country, we have a protective tariff, and a great people. We must have the facilities of civilization to attain our ultimate greatness. The Liberal policy was to give railway construction quickly through this district. They did not make a mistake. We have the interests of the people safe guarded. We have our stake in this country, the opportunity opens wide before us. Can we afford to shut in our fate? In the fall of five years ago there were equally great hopes of immediate railway construction through this district. They did not make a mistake. We have the same that tend to delay the construction of the Grand Trunk Pacific railway. The last seven years had seen marvellous changes transpire regarding Edmonton. The word Edmonton attracted scarcely passing attention, now, its very mention is the signal for close attention. The progress of the country depends on the carrying out of the policies of the Liberal government. Mr. Oliver took his seat amid prolonged cheering and the meeting closed with three cheers and a tiger for Mr. Oliver.

WINDOW DRESSING

Edmonton Merchants Alive to the Advantages of Proper Window Dressing.

Visitors in Edmonton remark on the character of the window dressing in our principal stores. At no time do our store windows present a more attractive appearance than at the festive season. Storekeepers vie with one another in this respect and the result is a series of handsome displays.

Contrary to natural expectations, there has not been many great attempts made at characteristic Christmas window dressing. McDougall & Secord have, however, made special efforts along this line. In one of their windows is depicted a scene particularly attractive to the younger children. A reindeer is harnessed to a sled in which is seated Santa Claus. On his back is strapped a large bundle of suitable Christmas presents. The sled bears the words, "I'll come to good children." Sprigs of holly are distributed about which makes the scene very realistic. There is a background of evergreen boughs on which are hung numerous suitable Christmas presents for children.

In another of the windows is a scene that most strongly appeals to the children at this season of the year. An old fashioned fire-place is shown. The coals lie glowing in the grate and a number of stockings are hung around it. The chimney is shown above the grate and bears the inscription: "Keep Your Chimney Clear for Santa Claus." As in the other picture suitable Christmas presents are scattered about the window. In the drygoods window is shown a handsome Christmas bell suspended by a sprig of holly. Inside the store are other Christmas decorations. Along one side of the grocery department is: "We Wish You a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year." The Hallidays, the Hallidays, Fredericks in one window have two Christmas trees, laden with presents for children. A Santa Claus stands on a pillar between the two trees. On the ground are decorative snowflakes which makes the scene more realistic.

W. H. Martin and J. E. Clark have the usual display of harness and leather goods.

Jno. W. Morris has two very attractive windows. In one is shown a fine display of dress goods, and in the other, sandals and nuts artistically arranged. In the latter window a background of evergreens is strung with small stockings containing gifts.

Ross Bros. have extensive displays in the different windows. The first window is devoted to lamps of every description, suitably arranged on stands. A very elaborate display of cutlery, jack-knives, etc. occupies the window. In the drygoods department an entire window is devoted to handkerchiefs, and another to different brands of baking powder.

E. Raymond has a very complete display of jewelry, comprising Christmas goods of the latest styles. His windows are especially attractive.

J. A. Stovel's windows contain an excellent assortment of goods.

Part and Wagstaff's is very attractive window. The window is devoted to drygoods and gent's furnishings.

W. H. Nairn has a handsome display of crockery in one of their windows and in the other a large assortment of cutlery.

Both windows are decked with holly.

The windows of H. W. B. Douglas are also attracting a great crowd of shoppers. One of the windows shows a very extensive display of chinaware, another photo-prints of special Christmas scenes, and in the other is a very elaborate collection of toys.

W. Johnstone Walker shows a fine display of drygoods and hardware and shows.

K. W. McKenzie has a fine assortment of stationery and special goods for Christmas presents.

Monroe and Whitcomb show excellent lines of groceries and confectionery.

J. T. Blowey, and McIntosh & Campbell show excellent lines of furniture and photographers and photo studios.

W. Johnstone Walker shows a fine display of drygoods and hardware and shows.

K. W. McKenzie has a fine assortment of stationery and special goods for Christmas presents.

D. W. Macdonald, G. H. Green, A. A. Morrow and A. Archibald, druggists, carry the usual lines of perfume, soap and other suitable Christmas presents. The windows are decorated with fancy Christmas mottoes.

A very attractive store is Haller and Aldridge's. One window is devoted to Christmas cakes and the other to fruits and confectionery. The store, which is decked with evergreens, is crowded with a great display of Christmas ornaments.

The Edmonton Clothing Company's windows show a splendid display of dress goods and gent's furnishings.

D. W. Macdonald, G. H. Green, A. A. Morrow and A. Archibald, druggists, carry the usual lines of perfume, soap and other suitable Christmas presents. The windows are decorated with fancy Christmas mottoes.

The windows of Gurney and Lester are also very attractive with a large display of handkerchiefs in one, and candies, nuts, etc., in the other.

W. H. Martin and J. E. Clark have the usual display of harness and leather goods.

Jno. W. Morris has two very attractive windows. In one is shown a fine display of dress goods, and in the other, sandals and nuts artistically arranged.

In the large central window is a handsome collection of drygoods, ornaments and furs. The hardware department is also specially attractive.

Ross Bros. have extensive displays in the different windows. The first window is devoted to lamps of every description, suitably arranged on stands. A very elaborate display of cutlery, jack-knives, etc. occupies the window. In the drygoods de-

PUBLIC RECITAL

Mr. Vernon Barford's thirty-fourth people's recital was held in All Saints' cathedral last evening. The attendance was not so large as the merits of the entertainment deserved. Mr. Barford was assisted by Mr. Tom Kelly, who gave three vocal selections most acceptably, and by Miss Alice Allard. The following is the programme:

Part I.

Aug. Soeterman, Op. 12, "Swedish Holiday March" (two pianos); Eva Protheroe, Lillian Parker, "Handel," Ruby Beale, Nira H. Eustachius, Op. 76, "Rondo" (from Sonatas in C) Marie De Gagne, Anton Strzelak, Op. 191, iv. "La Vie de Marie Gardey." Corinne Garritt, Op. 74, "Deux Morsane Melodie" (two pianos); Gretta Mercer, Kathleen Graydon.

Arthur Sullivan, "Take a Pair of Sparkling Eyes," Vocal, Mr. Tom Kelly.

Charles Neudotter, "Good Old Times," Gavotte. Ruby Beale.

Aug. Durand, "Value in E flat," Ernestine Berger.

Part II.

Charles Gouped, "Marche Romaine," Organ, James McDougall.

Edwin Schulte, "Romance in E major," (two pianos) Kathleen Pace, Marie De Gagne.

Frederic Chopin, Op. 64, ii, "Value in C sharp minor," Miss Alice McDougall.

James H. Ross, "The Little Garden," vocal, Mr. Tom Kelly.

Lies Lehmann, "At the Making of the Hay," Vocal, Mr. Tom Kelly.

Bob Koenig, "Sunbeams and Shadows," Eva Protheroe.

Ed. Haig, "The Flying Ulster," (two pianos) Alice McDougall, Marie Gardey, Ernestine Berger, Hattie Mackay.

COUNCIL MEETING

The regular meeting of the town council was held last evening in the council chamber.

The taxes of Manuels, A. Grant and C. Singe were struck off.

The time for receiving tenders for the new machinery for the electric light was extended to Jan. 29th.

A letter was read from W. Chapman, C. E., enclosing account to date, as was referred to the secretary-treasurer and solicitor to examine and report. On receipt of Mr. Chapman's bill he will be supplied with a map of the town showing the streets, sights, watermains, etc.

A committee was appointed to arrange for the remedy of the leaking water tank on Jasper avenue.

A report was read from the secretary-treasurer, re the municipal elections.

Chief Lauder, of the fire department, reported on the extension of the fire tower. It will now hold from six to seven thousand feet of hose.

A water tap was installed in the hall and a brass drinking pole provided for the firemen's use. He reported finding three hydrants frozen up.

John Fraser reported missing the electric light and water power plant and finding everything in first-class condition now, with about 450 tons of coal in the boiler.

E. E. McFie certified Gardner & Dalton's bill for supplying material for work on the intake pipe last March correct.

By-law 261, being a by-law to amend the fire by-law, was read a first and second time.

The mayor reported on the question of procuring ornamental trees for boulevards and streets. He recommended starting a nursery. Trees for this could be procured from the Experimental farm at Indian Head.

A committee was appointed to look up a suitable nursery site.

Owing to heavy buying we are overloaded in many lines of Christmas sundries and consequently

SERIOUS ACCIDENT

As Mrs. A. Powell was driving over from Strathcona yesterday afternoon accompanied by her son Ray, the horse took fright at a load of grain which had been upset near the head of the grade between Strathcona and the bridge.

The horse shed and upon the sudden throwing out the occupant, it then ran away, taking the cutter, or the remains of it, along, and was caught at the Edmonton hotel on the way to town. Mrs. Powell was severely injured on the head, and one leg was broken.

Memo.—It is a matter of regret that the profits anticipated have not been realized in the above Estates. Some of the reasons however are not far afield; the principal of which are—The large influx of new Real Estate concerns, the financial dexterity, brilliance and dash of their large and startling transactions, and the vast West End propositions, which in their magnificence have eclipsed our sober methods.

It may be added that these Estates are situated in the North and East of the City, which precincts contain the largest portion of the population as shown by the last amended census.

In the Two Franks store windows are arranged suitable and attractive displays of drygoods and gents' furnishings.

C. E. McManus and Company and W. G. Robertson have both splendid displays of boots, shoes, etc.

Joseph Hehsdoerfer has a splendid display of meats.

H. N. Dodge's store is very attractive. In our windows is an exceedingly handsome illustration of a church, inside of which can be seen the Christmas tree with Santa Claus presenting Christmas cakes, occupying a prominent position in the window.

The Edmonton Tent and Mattress Factory have their usual display of goods.

The Hudson's Bay stores have extensive displays in their windows. In the middle window is a large assortment of candies and nuts, arranged in a very attractive manner. The drygoods window is very attractive.

The butcher shops of Williamson, W. W. Howie and Clutton Bros. are displayed with Christmas meats.

Joe Bilodeau carries the usual excellent display of Christmas novelties in confectionery.

The Edmonton Music Company carries an excellent line of musical instruments, sheet music and music.

The Bon Ton is one of the most attractive stores in the city. Evergreens adorn the front of the store and suitable Christmas decorations are in evidence within. A large stock of Christmas novelties of the latest styles is carried.

E. Nankin's, Jackson's and Crawford's jewelry stores, have windows attractive with splendid lines of jewelry.

Mrs. M. T. Montgomery and Mrs. H. C. McDonald have very attractive military displays.

John McRee, F. Wagner P. Wagner & Company, have excellent displays of tailoring goods.

The Vogel Meat and Packing Company have their large store attractively fitted out for Christmas week. The array of meats and fowl is very attractive.

The Crystal Palace clothing store has a very fine appearance. Dry-goods-a and gents' furnishings form the decorations.

The Gallagher-Hull Meat Packing establishment has a particularly fine appearance and is a most creditable enterprise on behalf of the management.

The firm name is formed about the room in colored paper, and the other paper decorations are very attractive. A first-class grade of beef is on exhibition, and reveals the difference between it and the ordinary butchers' cattle. Two small pigs occupy a prominent position in the window.

J. Chenier has a display of dry-goods.

The windows of Larue and Picard's general store have an excellent appearance. They are becomingly decked with holly. One of the windows is devoted to a display of dry-goods, and the other to groceries and novelties, etc.

H. Morris's windows are very attractive. One is devoted to a handsome display of dress-goods with appropriate drapery, and the other to candies, nuts, etc.

John Somerville has the usual display of dry-goods.

John Mills has a very clever window display, which is attracting much attention. Cards bearing appropriate Christmas messages, occupy prominent positions. One window is devoted to the display of dry-goods and hats. The other shows a large hoop interlaced with ribbons, upon which is displayed handsome footwear. The top is padded with white matting and the whole window is a very creditable one.

G. Berg has his store fitted up in good shape for Christmas week. His stock of confectionery is well and attractively displayed.

A. Bruce Powley's jewelry store has been fitted out recently with fine new showcases. His display of jewelry etc., is extensive and attractive.

C. W. Sutler, Dominion immigration agent, has returned from a trip of inspection through the Galician settlements. All are doing well and are delighted with the prospects of the new railway.

Mr. Percy Hook, late of Toronto, will give a piano recital, assisted by some prominent vocalist, early in the New Year. Admission will be by invitation card, which will be sent out in good time. Mr. Hook will play a program of the best music, including numbers from Beethoven, Chopin, Liszt, Rachmaninoff and others.

Berald-Blain & McElroy now have about forty men at work in the timber at Battle Lake and already they have several thousand logs on the skidways awaiting more snow to enable them to bank them. Bains have been built, the creek brushed and in every way preparations made for a successful season's logging. No other town on the line occupies so important a position as a logging centre as Ponoka.

Use Lever's Dry Soap (a powder) to wash woolens and flannels, you'll like it.
